New WHS Band Room Is Dedicated

Perjury Studied In Story On Liquor 'Whitewash' Case

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—A House Republican raised the possibility of perjury proceedings Tuesday in the wake of conflicting testimony about the lack of anti-trust action against big liquor distillers.

Steel Tieup Saps Ohio Production

CLEVELAND, June 24—(AP)—The steel strike bit deeper into Northern Ohio's manufacturing might Tuesday and exacted its toll of defense production.

Several industrial firms already have announced production cuts and layoffs because of steel shortages, and others plan vacations as their stockpiles dwindle. More layoffs are anticipated.

At the same time, the district director of the CIO United Steelworkers announced the union expected to start moving stockpiles of finished steel for defense work by the end of this week.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

There must be a Boy Scout on the staff of the Washington Savings Bank who takes the slogan "Be Prepared" to heart.

Tuesday morning while the thermometer was soaring into the upper reaches and folks had collars open and brow mopping was in order, a snow shovel was ready for instant use, was a snow shovel. At least, it was cooling idea!

Did you ever see a single Regal lily stem containing 30 fully developed blossoms?

I never did either until Mrs. Warren Campbell, 312 S. North Street, brought the unusual specimen to the office.

The extraordinary lily, with its great cluster of flowers, was grown by Mrs. Vernon Knisley, of Bainbridge, who brought it here and gave it to Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, who will celebrate her 94th birthday, Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lena Knisley, 1106 South Main Street.

Last year, Mrs. Knisley had one lily stem with 18 flowers on it. The unusual lily is attracting much attention.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), senior minority member of a judiciary subcommittee, mentioned perjury prosecution after the group heard a charge and a denial that the Justice Department issued a "whitewash" report on the liquor industry.

On this and on other subjects, Keating told newsmen, there was "square, clear-cut conflict" between yesterday's witnesses. He added, however, "We will have to wait until we've heard from other witnesses before we reach a decision on the matter of perjury."

Several new witnesses, representing the cooperative whiskey barrel industry, were called to testify Tuesday.

ERNEST L. Branham, a Justice Department attorney, told the subcommittee Monday a recently prepared report saying there was no evidence of conspiracy among the distillers was "a whitewash of everything that had happened in the industry."

Moreover, Branham said, he was called down "in very violent terms" by Edward P. Hodges, his boss and the No. 2 man in the Anti-

Trust Division, for refusing to sign the report.

Hodges sprang to his feet at this point, called much of Branham's testimony untrue and asked a chance to deny it under oath. Chairman Chief (D-Ky), said Hodges would be heard Friday.

"Yes," Hodges snapped, "after it's all in the newspapers."

Herbert A. Bergson, former head of the Anti-Trust Division, likewise demanded a chance to be heard. He was told, too, he'd have to wait until Friday.

So Bergson handed out a statement saying there was "not a scintilla of evidence" the department's decision against anti-trust action was improper. The subcommittee put his statement in the record.

Red Demand In UN Stalls Debate On Germ Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 24—(AP)—The UN Security Council postponed debate on Communist germ warfare charges until Wednesday after Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik demanded that Red China and North Korea be allowed to participate. The delay paved the way for an anticipated French compromise disarmament proposal.

The council decided Monday night to put off the germ warfare debate after French Delegate Jules Moch requested a meeting Tuesday of the Disarmament Commission, made up of the 11 Security Council members of Canada.

Moch, who leaves Thursday to resume his duties as Socialist leader in the French Parliament, was reported ready to present a compromise proposal which he hopes may break the East-West deadlock before the commission.

At Monday's council meeting both the United States and Britain charged Malik was abusing his position as council president to delay action on the U. S. proposal for an impartial inquiry into the Communist charges that the U. S. had used germ warfare in Korea.

Malik vigorously denied this. The Russian delegate insisted that an invitation to Red China and North Korea be voted on simultaneously with the question of whether to put the U. S. demand for an impartial investigation of the Communist charges on the council agenda.

Open House Brings Many Visitors Out

Almost two years to the day after they first started cleaning the accumulation of odds and ends out of what once was the gymnasium of Washington C. H. High School, the new band room, which had been built in it, was dedicated Monday night at an open house.

The dedication ceremony was simple and informal. Supt. Stephen Brown accepted the new band room on behalf of the board of education and expressed its appreciation for the cooperation and help given by more than 200 individuals that made it possible.

That is about all there was to the dedication; while impressive in its simplicity and meaning, it was only a part of the evening's affair.

Richard Waters, a member of the school board and the sparkplug of the band room project, was presented a desk set with an engraved nameplate by the band as a token of its appreciation.

JUST HOW many came and saw the new band room is uncertain, for "they kept coming and going" all evening. The consensus was that the visitors numbered between 300 and 400.

In the atmosphere of complete informality, scores of parents of band members and more scores of individuals who take such pride in the crack WHS band strolled through the band room, asked questions about this and that of Bandmaster William B. Clift, Jr., and members of the band and replied with "ohs" and "ahs" and words of praise for what had been accomplished.

Typical of the many complimentary remarks were: "It's wonderful," "It's just what has been needed," and "The band deserves something like this."

Until the band room was put in the old abandoned gymnasium, the band had practiced in the Little Theater on the third floor of the high school building. There, the band was a constant annoyance to the classes in session in that section of the big sprawling building.

Bandmaster Clift suggested to the board that the old gym, which had become a catch-all and store room, be cleared out so the band could practice there. He said later that he had expected nothing more than the empty room, which is in a semi-basement.

THE SUGGESTION was made shortly after Waters took his place on the school board along with John Sagar, now the board president.

Waters was so insistent that that something be done to provide a practice room for the band, and at the same time get it further away from the class rooms, that the board named his a committee of one to see what could be done.

That was when Waters went to work in earnest.

Not long after he had started, he said "I never saw anything like the way the people got behind the project (of removing the old gym into a band room)."

Since the school had no money for carrying out the elaborate program he outlined, Waters had gone directly to the people with his problem. He asked for contributions—either cash, materials or labor—and the response was what he admitted left him gasping.

Members of the board attributed the public reaction to two things: (1) their pride in and loyalty to the band and (2) the contagion of Waters' own enthusiasm. They gave Waters the tag of "sparkplug" and agenda.

Allied Planes Blast Commie Plants Again

Ignore Huge Unit Smashed Previously

Officials Say New Policy Launched; Patrols Active

SEOUL, Korea, June 24—(AP)—Allied fighter-bombers Tuesday bombed and rocketed four of the five North Korean hydro-electric installations smashed by more than 500 land and carrier-based planes Monday, the Fifth Air Force announced.

None of the planes returned to the smoldering Suhoi power plants just south of the Yalu River boundary. But the Air Force said F84 Thunderjets "completed destruction" of two power stations near Changjin Reservoir and two on the Songchon River in Eastern Korea.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported increasing patrol action along the 155-mile battlefield Tuesday. One Allied patrol battled for almost two hours with a Red unit west of Chorwon, the scene of bloody fighting during the past two weeks.

About 20 Red troops were killed, the Army said.

As Allied experts studied gun film to evaluate destruction done by Monday's big raid on North Korean power plants, there were strong hints that more Red targets are marked for attack.

MILITARY officials in Washington said Monday's raid on Communist generating stations inaugurated a new "get tough" policy adopted as a result of Red stalling in the armistice negotiations.

One spokesman who asked not to be identified said "we now realize the best chance for breaking the deadlock at Panmunjom is to hit the enemy with all the force at our command."

A study of gun camera films from the Air Force, Marine and carrier-based Navy planes which took part in the Korean war's biggest air attack showed the strike was virtually a 100 per cent success, the Air Force said.

An official spokesman said direct hits were registered on all five targets, and the world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Suhoi was a "pile of junk." He described the 1,400-foot row of giant transformers and other equipment as a shambles.

The Suhoi plant lies only a half mile south of Manchuria on the Yalu River.

Reds Warn War Could 'Extend'

MUNSAN, Korea, June 24—(AP)—Communist truce negotiators Tuesday warned the United Nations that continued screening of prisoners at Koje Island may "extend the Korean War."

"You are taking dangerous steps which show that you do not hesitate to extend the Korean War," said North Korean Gen. Nam Il.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison replied, "We cannot and will not barter the right to freedom of any individual. We recognize the individual as possessed of free will, not a slave bound without choice to a lifetime of servitude."

About 45,000 prisoners on Koje are being questioned to learn whether they want to go home.

They are among prisoners who resisted screening last April when the UN got a "round figure" of 70,000 prisoners who want to be repatriated and some 100,000 who would fight being returned.

Battles To Take Grange Position

CINCINNATI, June 24—(AP)—Roy Battles will leave his job as farm program director of radio station WLW on July 15 to become executive assistant to the master of the National Grange, farm organization, in Washington.

Battles was graduated from Ohio State University College of Agriculture in 1934 and was agricultural agent in Pike County for a year, then served in the same capacity in Clermont County until joining WLW.

Hunt for City Manager And Solicitor Started At Executive Session

City council met in executive session Monday night and spent an hour discussing the matter of a new city manager.

In executive sessions, no action can be taken, so the entire time was spent in discussing various phases of the problem.

It is understood a number of possible prospects for a city manager to succeed Winston W. Hill, who resigned Saturday, were discussed.

The names included those of two or three Washington C. H. men, it is understood.

The naming of a city solicitor to succeed Hill, who also resigned that post, was taken up at the meeting, according to reports.

Hill had held the post without compensation other than the nominal salary drawn for his work as city manager.

THE MATTER of accepting Hill's resignation as both city manager and solicitor probably will be taken up at the regular session of city council Wednesday night.

In the meantime, William Clarke, president of council, is the acting city manager.

In all probability first applications for the position for city manager will be on file by Wednesday night.

Hill had presented his resignation as city manager early last spring, but council had not taken it up for acceptance.

Hill had continued in the position until Saturday, when he again presented his resignation "effective immediately."

It is expected that a new city manager and city solicitor will mean an outlay of several thousands of dollars in excess of the amount paid Hill for both positions during recent years. This cost and more pay for firemen and policemen must be met by obtaining increased revenue for operating the city.

It is possible that a new city manager may be named within the next week or two, but there is also likelihood that it may be several weeks, it is pointed out by those in touch with the matter.

War Needs Pass Strike Barriers

PITTSBURGH, June 24—(AP)—The first trickle of the defense materials promised to the U. S. government by the CIO United Steelworkers in their 23-day-old strike began flowing Tuesday.

Curiously enough, the materials were not steel at all but luminate cement, used to make jet engine testing cells.

A cement plant in Buffington, Ind., shipped 521 barrels of this cement to a Studebaker plant in South Bend, Ind.

Aside from this, the defense materials—particularly finished steel—remained locked inside strike-bound warehouses and mills despite a government-industry plan to get it moving to aid the armed forces.

STEEL COMPANIES said they have made no shipments of finished steel products.

One big producer announced it received orders from the government about what steel orders may be released. The company is polling its customers who had placed defense orders to see where the steel is needed.

The union refused to comment on reports that it demands full compliance with Wage Stabilization Board contract suggestions before permitting its men to work in steel plants during the strike. The WSB recommended a 26-cent hourly package pay raise and a union shop, both of which demands the steel firms have refused to meet.

Meanwhile, 650,000 basic steelworkers remain idle along with more than 100,000 made jobless in allied industries. And the total continues to grow.

Acheson and Eden In Strategy Talk 'Raid' Delayed

LONDON, June 24—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Secretary Anthony Eden met Tuesday to map joint strategy along a globe-girdling anti-Communist front stretching from Germany's Elbe to Korea's Yalu River.

Acheson flew to London Monday to receive an honorary degree from Oxford University and to talk with his West European colleagues. Their periodic meetings are designed to oil the wheels of foreign policy cooperation and give the West united answers to any Soviet moves in the cold war.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman joins the discussions here on Friday.

6 WACs Appealing Military Sentence After Brawl

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—The appeals of six court martialled WAC sergeants who beat up another woman soldier after a beer drinking spree came before the nation's highest military tribunal Tuesday.

The sergeants were convicted on charges of joint assault on former Pfc. Carol A. Kierce, Mount Vernon, O., last October, a few hours after she had appeared as a witness before another military court at Fort Breckenridge, Ky.

charged from the Army for unannounced reasons.

All six sergeants were sentenced to dishonorable discharges, forfeit of all pay and allowances and confinement at hard labor for terms that originally ranged from one year to 30 months.

The Army judge advocate general on Jan. 24 remitted the unserved portion of the lesser sentences and three girls were set free. Sentences of the other three were modified.

Says Isolation Would Make U. S. Victim

Eisenhower Given Campaign Control, Advisers Admit

DENVER, June 24—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pitched his presidential campaign Tuesday squarely on a peace-or-war issue with his GOP opponent, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The general laid down the battle lines in a television-radio speech Monday night in which he blasted isolationists and declared he was in politics primarily because he believed peace was at stake in the contest for the GOP presidential nomination.

He outlined his own peace and world security program in this way:

1. Convince the world that America has a sincere devotion to peace and will not consider proposals for a "preventive war."

2. Support the United Nations, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other security agreements as instruments for peace.

3. Pursue a positive foreign program, rather than a "hand to mouth" operation, which will line up the Allies against the enslavement of any nation.

4. Build up spiritual and military strength which will convince the Russian leaders they must accept a "just and practical plan" of world disarmament.

IN FIRM command of his own campaign, Eisenhower left no doubt he classed Taft among the isolationists. He said a "retreat into isolationism" would leave the United States "encircled by a savage wolf pack" of communism.

The general called a news conference Tuesday to enlarge on his views. Later he was to meet with GOP National Convention delegates from Louisiana, where Taft-Eisenhower forces are disputing the manner in which delegates were elected to the national convention in Chicago next month.

The general didn't name Taft directly but his remarks were billed by Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) an advisor, as revealing a wide foreign policy chasm between the two Republican candidates. And Eisenhower gave his approval to this billing.

Coupled with the fact that Eisenhower recently in private called Taft an isolationist, he made it clear he was hooting at Taft when he said:

"Those who assert that America can retire within its own borders; those who seem to think we have little or no stake in the rest of the world and what happens to it; those who act as though we had no need for friends to share in the defense of freedom—those persons are ignorant or irresponsible or they are taking an unjustified gamble with peace."

At another point, Eisenhower said if the Communist expansion should cut off America's sources of raw materials then the United States and her allies would be in a desperate plight. He added:

"This bleak scene would be our lot if we heed the false prophets of living alone—who preach that we need do nothing except maintain a destructive retaliatory force in the event the Russian armies should march... This would be the result of a retreat by us into isolationism."

EISENHOWER's speech came after it became known that his advisers admit they had made a mistake in not giving the general free rein to run his own show from the very start of his campaign.

"Ike has taken over in his own way," one adviser said, "and he's making the decisions."

His top command now feels that the general is more effective as a campaigner when he writes his own speeches and does things in a natural and unplanned manner.

This may account for the fact that there is no firm long-range plan agreed upon that will carry the general through the tag-end of the campaign into the Chicago convention. It seems to be the policy to let the general play it by ear the rest of the way.

New Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—A new civil rights bill which would forbid racial or other discrimination by employers was handed the Senate Tuesday by its Labor Committee. However, even its backers conceded they had virtually no hope that it would even come up for debate before Congress quits for the national political conventions.

Foundation Plan Progress Made

Committee Named To Study Setup

Definite progress in deciding on procedure for the formation of a Community Charity Foundation long discussed here, was made at a meeting Monday night, by a special committee of five, named by the Washington, D. C. Chamber of Commerce and the President's Club recently. It is to take action in accomplishing this purpose.

Agreement was reached for immediate study of similar organizations established in various cities and counties of Ohio and other states. A representative has been named to visit and obtain full details from one or two of these in Ohio as to methods in organization and operations.

STRONG hope was expressed by those present that a prompt follow-up in action here would result in being able to set up this foundation as an effective project by early in 1953. Thus, it would become a definite accomplishment of the Sesqui-centennial program here.

Attorneys already have prepared a preliminary form of organization which will be changed to suit local conditions. It is suggested that the Foundation be a county-wide project, on a broad and comprehensive scale.

A report will be made by the special committee to the Chamber of Commerce and the President's Club as to any action taken.

Later there will be full publicity for the public as to steps taken from time to time.

The purpose behind this organization is to obtain gifts and bequests in order to build up a sizeable fund for use in civic matters of lasting benefit to the city and county.

New Band Room

The credit for getting the job done. That was one reason why the band presented him the desk set in appreciation.

Waters said afterward that every place he stopped in the business district a contribution was made—not one refused. Soon after it became known what was going on, he said, business places and individuals called and asked to help out. Several, he said, handed him blank checks and said "fill in what you want."

Others offered materials and still others labor.

All the offers were accepted. Although the volunteers came in quick session, it took time to get the actual work under way and still more to get it done.

BUT NOW, two years after the start, it is completed.

In what once was a gymnasium, not suitable for class rooms because it is partly underground (there is ventilation from outside across the upper half,) there now is what visitors from other cities describe as "one of the finest band rooms in the state."

First of all it is sound proof. It has three sound proof practice rooms, 6 by 8 feet; cabinets for music, a storage place for instruments which can be locked securely, and office for the bandmaster, a repair room and equipment and a big tiered stage-like area for practice.

Waters and Fred Rost, who kept all the records and handled the accounts, estimate that today it would cost around $25,000.

BUT, IT WAS put into the high school at an estimated cost of $12,500, of which about $7,500 was contributed in cash and the rest in materials and labor.

The difference, in the actual cost and the estimated cost today they said was due to the increase in prices of labor and materials.

And, practically none of the cost came out of tax money—only the repair of the heating and ventilating system and electric wiring, which would have had to be done anyway.

Because of the generous public response, Waters said, there was

Foes Of Controls May Let Act Die

GOP, South Dems Believed Teaming Against Extension

WASHINGTON, June 24 — (P)—Foes of price and wage controls were reported Tuesday mapping plans to deal a death blow to the already battered controls extension bill.

The Defense Production Act, which gives the President authority to control wages, prices, rents and production, expires next Monday unless Congress extends it.

And strong sentiment for letting the law die was expected to be voiced by Republicans and Southern Democrats, who already have stripped the measure of most of its effective price control powers. They appear to have the votes to get their way, too, when the bill comes up for action Wednesday.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky.), chairman of the House Banking Committee, said his administration forces would make an all-out fight against a probable let-it-die movement.

A DECONTROL amendment by Rep. Talle (R-Iowa), overwhelmingly adopted last Friday, would require that price controls be lifted on goods which have sold below ceilings for three months or are in adequate supply—that is, not rationed or allocated. No goods now are rationed.

This was followed by a vote to abolish the present Wage Stabilization Board and replace it with an agency limited to policy matters

Mac Under Study For No. 2 Position

Some Taft Supporters Think General Would Take Post

WASHINGTON, June 24 — (P)—A MacArthur-for-vice-president move was reported under discussion Tuesday by some supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who will keynote the Republican National Convention opening in Chicago July 7, has given public support to Taft's bid for the presidential nomination.

And while the general has said repeatedly he isn't a candidate for any office, some of the senator's followers believe MacArthur might be persuaded to accept second place on the ticket, assuming Taft gets the top spot.

They envision a colorful election campaign in which the five-star general would be provided with a special train and tour the country extensively.

THE MACARTHUR theory is based on the apparent assumption of some Taft people that their candidate can win the presidential nomination without having to promise second place to anybody in return for delegate support.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's backers say Taft isn't going to win the nomination at all, so they contend the Ohioan won't have anything to do with the choice of the vice presidential nominee.

MacArthur made it clear through an aide Monday he isn't against the election of professional soldiers to public office, as such, though he's strongly against the development of a military state. This seemed to leave him free to accept a nomination if he chose to do so.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney denied in New York an assertion by Lt. Gen. R. L. Eichelberger that MacArthur wanted Eisenhower to remove himself from the presidential picture in 1947 so the way would be clear for MacArthur to run himself for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948.

Eichelberger, formerly MacArthur's right-hand man in the occupation of Japan, made his assertion Sunday at Asheville, N. C., in announcing his support of Eisenhower in the present GOP nomination contest.

"I can state categorically that no political intercourse of any nature has ever taken place or even been considered between Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Eisenhower," Whitney said, adding: "Gen. MacArthur holds Gen. Eisenhower in warmest personal regard and professional esteem, but does not support his political ambitions now nor has he ever considered doing so."

CHICAGO, June 24 — (P)—Corn led the market at the Board of Trade higher Tuesday on light country receipts and prospects of new export business.

Buying in wheat resulted from lack of heavy hedging pressure from the new crop, and reports of damage to the spring wheat crop. Exporters were said to be heavy buyers.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The civil rights program is in the political shadows at the moment but will emerge at the Chicago conventions, where both parties will have to take a stand on it. It may be vital in the election.

The Republicans were mild on civil rights in their 1948 platform. This undoubtedly cost them plenty among Northern Negro voters and ardent white supporters of a civil rights program. It didn't help the Republicans directly in the South.

If the Republicans don't wreck themselves this year by their own internal quarrels and again are mild on civil rights, it may cost them Northern Negro votes but may do them good this time among Southern whites.

Both Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft have made a strong pitch to win white Southerners away from their traditionally Democratic ticket. Neither has said anything which could inflame white Southerners against them very much.

AMONG the various civil rights problems, the one getting the most attention in recent years has been the FEPC, a fair employment practices commission.

The purpose of a government FEPC would be to prevent employers from discriminating against a man—working or unemployed—because of his color or religious belief.

A presidential candidate can take one of several positions: against a government FEPC altogether, leaving employment problems to the states; for a federal FEPC which is only advisory, lacking teeth; or for a federal FEPC with full power to compel an employer not to discriminate; meaning he can be punished if he does.

That last one, the compulsory FEPC, is the goal of the most ardent Negro and Northern white advocates of civil rights. It is also the one which is sheer poison to white Southerners.

In his first news conference after coming home Eisenhower turned his back on a federal FEPC at all. He said he'd leave the problem to the states. Taft would go along with a federal FEPC, but only the advisory kind.

At the same time only two among the many Democratic hopefuls—Averell Harriman and Sen. Brien McMahon—have come out for a compulsory federal FEPC.

Justice Unit Probe Of Liquor Trade Is Disclosed

WASHINGTON, June 24.—House investigators disclosed Monday the Justice Department looked into the liquor industry three years ago and found no evidence of a price-fixing conspiracy but a "high degree of concentration" in the industry.

The disclosure was made by Stephen Mitchell, counsel for a House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating the Justice Department.

Mitchell made public a statement by the department explaining why it did of bring anti-trust charges against the liquor industry.

The justice probe, Mitchell said, came after the department heard rumors that political contributions had been made by leaders of the industry in 1948.

Class of 1927 To Hold Reunion

Wednesday Noon Reservations Close

Unless the loosely-knit committee's calculations are way off, more than half of the 76 graduates in the Washington C. H. High School class of 1927 will get together Saturday evening at the Country Club here for the class' 25th anniversary reunion.

And, if those calculations are correct, there will be between 75 and 80 seated at the dinner tables for the occasion, for the invitations to the reunion include husbands and wives of the members of the class of 1927. Besides, there probably are some of them that will bring their children along.

The dinner is scheduled for 6 P. M. Reservations, it was said, could be made until noon Wednesday by calling either Mrs. Ervin Miller or Mrs. George Campbell.

Several members of the class took over the planning for the reunion last fall. They formed a sort of self-appointed committee and delegated different phases of the arrangements to members of the class here, including the members of the committee.

THE BIGGEST task was making up the mailing list for the invitations. It was months before the addresses of all but four or five had been ascertained. The list showed the class was scattered almost from border to border and coast to coast.

Replies already received have come from members of the class in several states.

Lawrence Moss, whose home is in Omaha, Neb., is coming back to act as toastmaster for the informal after-dinner part of the reunion. He was the vice president of the class.

William Ireland, the president, now lives in Kitchener, Ontario. He acknowledged the invitation, but explained that it would be impossible for him to get back for the reunion. He sent his regards.

Most of the alumni who have made reservations, however, live in this immediate vicinity. Nearly all within the county are expected to be there.

One of the committee on arrangements said no formal after-dinner program had been arranged. But with Moss as the toastmaster, many of them probably will be given an opportunity to say a few words.

One thing is certain—many of those at the reunion will be seeing some of their old classmates for the first time in many years.

Dog Fight Leads To Damage Suit

NEW YORK, June 24.—A woman has been awarded $5,274 by a Bronx Supreme Court jury for her troubles in breaking up a fight between her terrier and a doctor's collie.

Mrs. Elma C. Fulkerson said she was bitten and lost a diamond ring when she intervened in the canine battle.

She sued the doctor, Philip G. MacDonald, for $30,000. The jury Monday ruled that she should get $5,000 for the ring and $274 for injuries and medical expenses.

Youth from Here Has Big Time At 4-H Gathering in Capital

One of the most photographed youngsters in Fayette County these days seems to be John Melvin, 17-year-old delegate to the National 4-H Club camp in Washington D. C.

According to reporters on the scene and John's letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Melvin of the Columbus Road, the healthy-looking 4-H lad has been snapped by Washington newspapers, Time Magazine and several commercial photographers.

His picture along with a few of the other Ohio delegates has appeared in a Washington newspaper, but his parents don't know which one. Evidently, John has been too busy to notice with all the sightseeing that he has been doing.

At the encampment, John has distinguished himself by being selected as one of about 24 of the 200 delegates from all over the U. S. to sing in the national 4-H encampment chorus.

SOME OF THE "thrills" he has wrote home about include; a visit to the Supreme Court with the 'Enemy' Bomber Aims At Gotham

NEW YORK, June 24.—A mock but grim A-bomb attack is planned in New York Tuesday to test the nation's air defenses.

An Air Force B29, playing the role of an enemy plane, is due to fly from a European base and attempt an attack at some unknown hour.

Defending jet planes, alerted by ground observers or radar stations, are to try to intercept it.

The man in the street won't know about the exercise.

Citation Dismissed

COLUMBUS, June 24.—The state board of liquor control Monday dismissed a citation against Richard J. Unger, operator of the White Cottage Poultry in Lima. Unger, who holds a beer carryout permit, had been cited by the liquor department for offering a premium or gift merchandising with the advertising of alcoholic beverages.

Ohio delegation in which he got a chance to stand on the platform where the judges sit; a visit to the FBI after which he said "I never want to have them on my trail;" and seeing his uncle, Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, at work on the floor of the House of Representatives.

Regardless of the fun he's having, John seems ready to come home. His mother noted that the last letter said "it's only a week until we get back."

John will return to help his family on the farm for the next year. The year after he plans to enter Ohio State.

Explain Rationing Of Korean Ammo

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Defense Department says it has been forced to ration some types of ammunition in Korea.

But the department said such rationing is not an unusual military situation and does not mean soldiers are without shells for their guns.

A statement issued Monday night said shortages have developed in some types of ammunition because artillery units were authorized to fire at a faster rate than in World War II.

Claims Smaller Plants Snubbed

NEW YORK, June 24.—Telford Taylor, head of the Small Defense Plants administration, said Monday night the Army and Navy are failing to cooperate properly in channeling suitable contracts to smaller plants.

Taylor addressed a meeting of small business representatives held under auspices of the United Action for Small Business Inc.

Two Receive Awards For Purdue Studies

Two students from Washington C. H. have received scholarships for the coming fall semester at Purdue University.

They are Stephen R. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Brown, 212 East Paint Street, and Terry G. Bright, son of Mrs. Donald Soale, 913 Washington Avenue.

Both boys received awards which provide for exemption from the tuition fee which amounts to $100 per semester.

The scholarships, awarded on a semester basis, are renewable throughout the four years of undergraduate work so long as required scholastic standards are met.

In addition to superior grades on standard tests, an applicant for these scholarships must have a superior high school record and have the recommendation of his high school principal.

Accused Forger Flees, Apologizes For Hasty Exit

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky., June 24.—Jailer Charles W. Young had an apologetic note Tuesday from a prisoner who fled the county lock-up.

Gordon Searcy, who broke out of jail Saturday night, offered to make good a check for $125 he was accused of forging last Dec. 30. It was cashed at a store.

Jailer Young found this pencil-written note:

"I am sorry I taken this way but there was no other. I aim to pay Doc Moore if it costs me my life. I just couldn't stay this other five months. I ask for a chance to make good the check. I'll be back as soon as I have the money to pay off everything. . . so please don't feel so hard against me for what I have done."

When Egyptians stopped using scarabs at the end of the 26th dynasty, foreigners continued to make imitations of them.

Ice Cream Social At Center Church

An old fashioned ice cream social—one of the time tested and proven summer events which has been diminishing in a high-gear world—is to be held next Friday evening at the Center Church just west of Plymouth.

It is being put on the the WSCS of the church for two purposes: (1) to provide a sociable meeting place for the people of the community for miles around and (2) raise a little money for the organization's treasury out of which many of the expenses of the rural church are met.

Mrs. Lowell Thompson, the WSCS president, said the 22 members of the society were hoping—and planning—for a good turnout. Although the weather is bound to be a determining factor, they plan to have ice cream and cake, coffee, sandwiches, homemade candy and soft drinks for more than 200.

The ice cream and cake and everything else that is served admittedly is just incidental; what really counts at affairs such as this, she said, is the sociability—the opportunity it provides for the people of the community to get together and exchange news of the goings-on, the crops and the like.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Adams and their son Joe, who live in the community, are to lend the musical note to the occasion with their stringed instrument and vocal selections. They play and sing. Mrs.

Wheat Outlook Here Indicates a Record

Most of Fayette County's wheat growers and agricultural authorities are predicting one of the greatest wheat yields in the county's history, this year.

This optimistic outlook is based upon conditions of future favorable weather but all agree that the present situation seems rosy.

From most other wheat producing sections of this nation come similar reports.

Odds are being figured on the current wheat crop in Kansas--the bellwether wheat state--and have been posted as 79 to 31 that the 1952 yield will surpass the record year of 1947, when 284,000,000 bushels went through the Kansas combines.

Kansas is not only the nation's premier wheat-producing state, it also provides the best barometer as to the size of the nation's wheat crop as a whole. Kansas has a lousy climate and its wheatfields are frequently insect-infested. Whenever Kansas produces a good wheat crop, the remainder of the wheat-producing country comes through, too.

These odds are based on a study of predictions during past years. Since 1930 the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been too low on its forecasts of the Kansas wheat crop 79 times, and too high only 31 times.

Crop experts say the yield this year has 79 chances of reaching approximately 300,000,000 bushels, and 31 chances of falling below the official estimate of 264,000,000 bushels.

The harvest has not advanced far enough to give a comprehensive report on acreage yields. Only the earlier varieties are being combined, but there seems little doubt that all varieties will produce well. Some sources place the Kansas average at 25 bushels, which would place the total at more than 300,000,000 bushels.

With favorable weather continuing, the main concern in the wheat country is in transportation and elevator space. Railroads moved early to insure a supply of cars, but should the wheat ripen in several states at once, because of extreme heat, there may be some transportation delay.

But there seems little doubt that this will be a prosperous year in the wheat country.

Does Crime Pay?

Salvatore Moretti, described as one of the most notorious lawbreakers in the nation's history, is dead at the age of 49. He did not die a gangster's death for the simple reason that for once in his long and lawless career he was in jail.

The Senate crime committee had asked Solly how he made $84,000 in 1949 when he had no visible means of support. He told the commission he had lost his books, and fell back on his constitutional rights. He was sentenced to from two to three years in jail, and was on the point of being paroled when he died. Previously he had served six months on a charge of contempt.

Corruption Inquiry Bogs Down

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, June 24—President Truman's political aides now recall with belated approval his earlier warnings that they should not get panicky over Capitol Hill charges of graft and widespread dishonesty within his official family. They agree with him that his belligerent tactics in the face of this legislative offensive have, as they put it, "beaten the investigation rap."

Although the House has voted large sums for further investigation of political corruption and skulduggery in the treasury, justice, agriculture and defense departments, showing its suspicions of "cleanup" pledges, White House stalling and active hostility may prevent any more dangerous exposes between now and November.

Any real housecleaning must be done by the incoming administration. And should it be Republican, the cry will be raised that it was undertaken solely to give the newcomers an opportunity to enjoy the "spoils of victory." In the forgetful public mind, the scandals might not remain as a blot on the Democrats.

STANDPATISM — Truman's three-month failure to fulfill his promise to reform and renovate has succeeded in its purpose. Even when certain Cabinet members begged him to turn the other cheek, suggesting that he name Senator Estes Kefauver as attorney general, he "stood pat," although describing himself as a foe of all kinds of standpatism. Congress, for instance, aims to adjourn by July 5 at the latest so that sessions will not collide with the conventions. Even if they should have to return to Washington after the nominations, members facing hard reelection battles will be in no mood to dig up yesterday's dirt. With a campaign in progress, the people will be looking ahead instead of backward.

Thus, it may be impossible for the King, Chief, Maybank and other committees to run down and publicize all the "leads" uncovered by their agents.

SUPPRESSION — Besides refusing to inaugurate the promised cleanup after the summary discharge of Newbold Morris, Truman has made the suppression of all damaging or suggestive data virtually an official activity at the Capital. By his own attitude as well as by verbal and written orders, he has placed essential material for any real pre-election inquiry under lock and key.

Truman's original order against disclosing information of a so-called "security" nature furnished the formula and mechanism of suppression. At first it was intended to be employed only against newspaper, magazine, radio and television representatives.

Truman has frequently chided his press conferences on this question. Editorial associations have replied in kind.

DEFIANCE — Gradually, however, the White House used this device to withhold almost anything wanted by Congressional investigators. On the ground that the details would interfere with diplomatic relations and negotiations, data on shady Egyptian cotton deals and wasteful disposal of war surplus property in Germany were denied to Capitol Hill representatives.

So was information on the questionable Joe Casey-Newbold Morris tanker transaction, until hard-boiled M. C.'s asserted their prerogatives.

In several instances, executive officials have tried to withhold documents from Controller General Lindsay C. Warren, although Congress long ago made clear that he was a watchdog for the legislative branch, and responsible only to that arm of the government.

With White House backing, Secretary Sawyer is in open defiance of Warren's insistence that the government is paying an exorbitant price for the new superliner, the United States.

UNPRETTY — Only a few examples of this premonitory lowering of Truman's "iron curtain" on government activities have been publicized generally for the reason that it does not make spectacular news and headlines. It is a slow, petty and unpretty kind of operation, albeit effective.

Government bureaucrats do not slam their doors or files in the face of Capitol Hill agents seeking information. They simply refuse to talk or to turn over papers until they have obtained approval from their bureau boss, their Cabinet superior, the White House, and, finally, the attorney general. The lack of key documents may delay a period of months may delay any follow-up until the offense can be covered up.

TRICKS — Another subterfuge is to try to smother a Congressional staff with such a mountainous pile of innocuous documents that an intelligent study becomes impossible. As a rule, the essential reports are missing or inconclusive. Key witnesses in an agency may be sent abroad or assigned to a distant section of the country, as soon as their importance is discovered by their superiors. These are only a few of the tricks.

Congressional groups sometimes appeal to the courts against executive recalcitrancy. But, too often, politically appointed judges hold that, like the kings of olden days, a president can do no wrong and cannot be called to account. Such a contention was advanced by a McGranery lawyer in the steel seizure litigation.

Hoffman's Philosophy Questioned

By George Sokolsky

This was written by Paul Hoffman, head of the Ford Foundation:

"From the outset, of course, our interest in reducing trade barriers among Western Europe's peoples had more than an economic motivation. We never forgot for a moment that the Marshall Plan is a program for peace and that economic autarchy and attempts to attain it often have been the basis for strife. We believed, for example, that Hitler might never have had the final impetus to start World War II if it had not been for the self-sufficiency fence he threw around Germany."

There is no evidence either in history or economics that a word of this is correct. Germany, for instance, produces no oil, no copper, and inadequate supplies of steel. There was not an oil well in the Germany which Hitler controlled when he made war; yet, all his plans were based on a mechanized war aircraft, tanks, guns on motor-driven chassis.

Charles Callan Tansill, professor of American diplomatic history, a noted authority on the subject, has recently completed five years of research in original documents in the files of the State Department and elsewhere. He wrote a book, "Back Door to War," which will for long be a source book on the origin of World War II. It is a prolonged documentation of the war in which every factor that produced two wars from 1914 to 1941 is analyzed. There is not one indication that autarchy was a factor.

Autarchy means economic isolationism, the capacity of a country to live on itself, without imports, without aid from outside. We went to war with Germany, Italy and Japan, three poor countries which are now and have always been dependent upon imports and therefore have to export. For instance, Japan lacks all raw materials within her own boundaries and, being only 20 percent arable, is even lacking in food. Italy is overpopulated and has, from the days of the Roman Empire until this very moment, been forced to import wheat, the essential food product of the Italian people. How can anyone speak of these three countries living under a state of autarchy?

Hoffman answers the question by saying:

"... It was this fence which largely enabled him to build up, for the sole purpose of waging war, synthetic fuel, synthetic rubber and new steel plants, all at excessively high cost, all unable to withstand competition from outside Germany."

There is no evidence that Hitler's synthetic fuel and synthetic rubber were adequate to wage the kind of war he did. As a matter of fact, because he could not, he failed. As to Japan, that country failed because it lacked food and oil. We now know that Japan was defeated long before the war ended. Our Navy did it by starving them.

The difficulty with Mr. Hoffman's generalization is of course, that he wanted to write a short, speedy book, to convey a basic idea in which he believes. It is like crowding a thousand years of history into this 700-word column. Naturally, there is not enough room for detail, for explanations. Yet, when a man of Paul Hoffman's stature attempts to jam an argument on so serious a subject as he deals with in his book, "Peace Can Be Won," he leads to false conclusions.

Hoffman, for instance, says: "Speaking personally, I am pinning particular hope for the downfall of the Kremlin on the will of peoples to rule themselves."

Why should we assume that the Russian people, who have accepted autocracy and despotism for 1,000 years, would suddenly become concerned with problems of

One Type of Nausea Is Blamed On Nerves

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

I suppose most of my readers know that pregnant women frequently complain of morning sickness. These women have a feeling of nausea and the urge to vomit early in the morning; sometimes this feeling returns throughout the day.

Men have also been known to suffer from morning sickness, though from a very different cause. Such men are emotionally unstable, and their symptoms are usually attributed to a sense of insecurity.

Breakfast Distasteful

Often, this type of person has no appetite for breakfast, and even the sight of food, especially fatty food, is extremely distasteful. If he forces himself to eat, he becomes nauseated and may even vomit. The nausea may return any time during the day, but usually only if some disturbing situation comes about. For example, if he has an argument with the boss, he may develop nausea, or vomit.

Usually such a person is very tense and nervous and complains that he feels tired all the time. He may describe his feeling as "butterflies in the stomach."

These persons are also subject to diarrhea and severe cramps. An important feature of this sickness is that no organic disease is usually found. Thus, the complaints are due to nervous disturbances.

These symptoms tend to persist. It is interesting that these men do not lose weight. Even though they eat practically nothing for breakfast and only light lunches, they are able to eat heavy dinners every day. Many of these men can be helped by psychotherapy in which they talk out their problems with a psychiatrist. Attempts are then made to resolve their complex, and when such treatment is thoroughly carried out, most of these patients can be cured.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. A.: What would cause an excessive growth of hair on a young woman's face at the age of 27?

Answer: The cause of superfluous hair is not known. It is probably due to some glandular disorder. However, just what glands have been involved cannot be determined.

A disturbance of the pituitary gland, located at the base of the brain, or the adrenal gland, located above the kidneys, may be responsible.

liberty? What has this generation of Russians learned about liberty?

Even such revolutions as 1905 and 1917 were organized principally by Western-educated persons, many of whom originated among the non-Russian races of that vast empire. Stalin, himself, is not a Russian.

I make this point because oversimplified assumptions, like those in Paul Hoffman's book, tend to mislead our people. We have an enemy and we want peace, but I do not think that Hoffman's answer is the answer. He wrote, "... The answer is universal military training. Here is how it would work. At the age of about eighteen all male Americans, before they have assumed family obligations, will go into armed-force training establishments for a two-year hitch. They will be given good care, food and clothing, and enough pay for incidental expenses, perhaps a dollar a day."

Bicycle Parade Is All Set Here

Prizes To Be Given For Decorations

State Highway Patrolman Robert Sheline, one of the judges for the bicycle parade being sponsored by Montgomery Ward & Co., and the Washington C. H. Safety Council, Wednesday is urging boys and girls to join the parade to help promote safer bike riding in this community.

Patrolman Sheline said he could not "stress too strongly the importance of and need for safe bike riding." He added that "safe bike riders today mean safe car drivers tomorrow."

Frank Ellis and James Chakares and Patrolman Sheline are to act as judges.

The parade is scheduled to start from in front of the Montgomery Ward store, 139 South Hinde Street, and go from there to Gardner Park on South Main Street where prizes will be awarded to the riders of the best and most originally decorated bikes.

In addition to the prizes put up by Montgomery Ward, free movie passes, Coca-Cola and ice cream will be given to all contestants who have registered for the parade before the deadline on June 25 at 9:30 A. M.

Registrations are being taken by Herb Lewis, manager of the sporting goods department of Montgomery Ward. The parade is open to all bicycle riders, young and old. All prizes are now on exhibition in Ward's Store. The first prize is a sealed beam Hawthorne bike.

A LIST of twelve most important safety regulations for bike riders has been announced by Lewis. They are:

1. Do keep your bicycle in excellent running condition by checking wheels, brakes, chains and tires.
2. Don't stunt or race in traffic.
3. Obey all traffic signs and signals before making turns. Keep to the right.
4. Don't hitch onto moving vehicles.
5. Do walk your bike across busy intersections.
6. Don't carry passengers on your handlebars or fenders.
7. Do ride single file when with a group of cyclists.
8. Don't make repairs on the roadway. If repairs are necessary, make them at the side of the highway.
9. Do attach a basket or rack for carrying parcels, freeing both hands for steering except when signaling.
10. Don't shoot out of blind drive-ways.
11. Do have a headlight and rear reflector for night driving and a bell or horn at all times.
12. Don't forget—use your head and you're sure to keep it.

Change Is Made In Envelope Order

Effective July 1, a new procedure for the handling of special request envelopes will be placed in effect. At the post office the change will affect approximately 50 patrons.

The purpose of the change is, (1) to improve the service to the public and (2) to simplify the procedure for the handling of orders. At the present time when ordering special request envelopes the patron is required to make a deposit for the cost of the envelope plus printing charges. The balance or the cost of the postage is paid when envelopes are delivered.

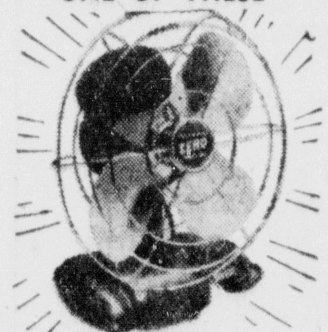

Under the new procedure, effective July 1, the patron will be required to pay the entire cost of the envelopes when order is placed and the envelopes will be delivered promptly upon arrival.

Under the new arrangements it will be an easy matter to place orders for special request envelopes by mail. This procedure shall be encouraged and recommended, Postmaster W. E. Passmore said.

Korea War Is Two Years Old --- There's No Decision So Far

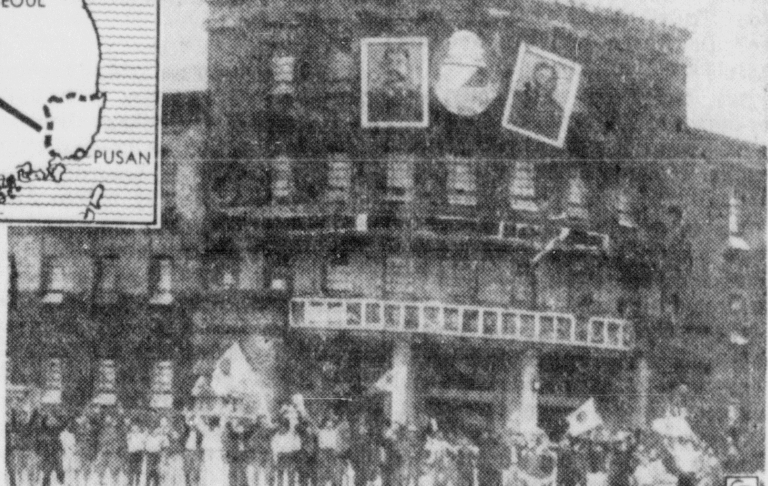

Driven back to the Pusan perimeter, the tide turned for UN forces with the Inchon landing, Sept., 1950.

Worthy Causes Can Be Trouble

Trick Is To Say 'No' And Keep Friends

NEW YORK, June 24—Donating to worthy causes can run into a heap of money—as most businessmen know. And screening the most worthy—and saying "no" without losing friends—can be a major headache for many companies.

Corporate contributions for charitable, health and educational purposes are estimated to run around 300 million dollars a year now, five times what it was 10 years ago.

This means the nation's corporations as a whole are giving about three-fourths of one per cent of their profit before taxes. Even so, the federal income tax law leaves room for contributions to grow. The law permits deductions for donations up to five per cent of profit before taxes. At the present rate of corporate earnings, this five per cent could be around two billion dollars.

But if the U. S. treasury should lose such money donated for charitable, health and educational purposes, so would the stockholders. And they have to be sold on the worthiness of the causes aided.

INCREASED contributions in the future—and many businessmen concede they will increase—will sprout from many reasons: 1. The growing needs of an increasing population and expanding social programs, plus the swelling costs of operating charitable organizations. 2. The increasing awareness by businessmen of community responsibility. 3. The shrinking of private fortunes—once the mainstay of charity—under income and inheritance taxes, which make corporations the main source to which organizations can turn.

Some companies meet the problem of how to give by setting up foundations for the purpose. Ford, and Sears, Roebuck are examples. Others set up annual contribution budgets. And some, like Jersey Standard Oil, take the burden off the shoulders of top executives by setting up a committee of officials with a full-time executive secretary. This committee submits a contribution budget annually to the board of directors.

Miss Gardner Entertains At Delta Kappa Gamma Picnic

The crescent moon looked down, on Monday evening, on a joyous assembly — a farewell for the year picnic, of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society on the lovely lawn at the home of Miss Edith Gardner. Additional hostesses were Dr. Ruth Teeters, Mrs. William J. Dilly, Mrs. Elton B. Elliott, Miss Marian Christopher and Miss Dorhea Gaut. Long tables were extended under the magnificent old shade trees, and were loaded with good things to eat. Here the members of the Alpha Delta Chapter of this honorary education national society met in relaxed informality and fraternal greetings, with the knowledge of a year's work well done. Miss Gardner and Miss Kathleen Davis led the outdoor chorus—"Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," which preceded the banquet.

Dr. Ruth Teeters, president of the society, conducted a very short business meeting in which she presented a new mascot, a Norwegian doll, dressed in native costume, sent by Miss Elsa Joranger, of Oslo, Norway, a teacher of applied arts, now a student at Ohio State University, on a scholarship financed by the National Delta Kappa Gamma. Dr. Teeters was elected as delegate to the National Delta Kappa Gamma convention to be held in Chicago August 11-13, with Miss Gladys Melson, alternate.

The theme of the year's work has been "Teacher Welfare—A means of providing educational efficiency." Miss Gladys Melson, program chairman, and Dr. Ruth Teeters, president, sponsored a number of well-balanced programs such as: "Better Schools for Washington C. H.," a community meeting with a speaker from the Department of Education; an Initiation and Christmas Party at the Washington Country Club, a joint meeting of County and City teachers, with the speaker the head of the Ohio State Retirement System; "Modern Music," demonstrated by a Fayette County music supervisor; a birthday luncheon at the Wardell Party Home with a guest speaker, and Alpha Gamma Chapter of Ross County as guests, a movie cancer study, and a study of Ohio's constitution; a Founder's Day program, and a guest speaker from Norway.

Chapter officers are: president, Dr. Ruth C. Teeters; first vice-president, Miss Gladys Melson; second vice-president, Mrs. Amelia Child; treasurer, Miss Jane Trent; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joe Elyn Harper; recording secretary, Miss Priscilla White; parliamentarian, Miss Margaret Gibson; historian, Miss Agnes Kerrigan. Ten Pledges Are Initiated Into Sorority

The officers of Gradale Sorority were hostesses at their annual party Monday evening at the home of the primus, Mrs. John E. Rhoads.

The lovely event was held in combination with initiation of the new pledges, Mr. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Dumford, Mrs. Walter H. Seifried, Mrs. Burke Kearney, Miss Irene Jorgensen, Mrs. Robert M. Meriweather, Mrs. Richard Patton, Mrs. Robert A. Poppen, Mrs. Charles Neikirk and Mrs. Alberta Jacobs.

Upon arrival the members were given personalized lollipops which carried the theme of a "Children's Party" and pledges came dressed as four year olds bringing with them various articles which had been acquired as a part of the initiation.

Mrs. Charles Simpson assisted by Miss Jo Ann Crouse was in charge of the ceremony in which stunts put on by the pledges provoked hilarious amusement.

Games and contests were conducted by Mrs. Loren Noble and awards went to Mrs. Emery Lynch and Mrs. John Noble.

Later, Mrs. Dale Ward, newly elected primus held a short business session with her officers during which plans were made for the coming year.

During the social hour, Mrs. Rhoads was assisted by Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. James McCoy, Mrs. Robert Stanforth and Mrs. Ralph Hyer, who served as refreshments.

Family Night At Country Club Well Attended

The informal family night covered dish dinner at the Washington Country Club, was Monday evening with a good attendance of members and guests.

Delicious viands of a wide variety made up the menu and the group found places at small tables for a most congenial dinner hour.

Later the ladies found pleasant diversion in bridge and canasta games while others visited both in the club lounge and on the cool inviting lawn.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. E. L. Bush, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lydia Williams, Mrs.

ice cream molds of clowns and cookies which further carried out the theme of the party.

The next meeting will be combined with installation of officers and induction of new members on July 14 and the place is to be announced later.

Korean Orphan To Have Home With Parents Of American GI

ORINDA, Calif., June 24 (AP)—Kim Yoon Jeong, 16-year-old Korean orphan, is going to have the chance in the United States that his GI buddy promised.

A year ago Pfc. Victor Beauchamp Jr., of Orinda, found Kim, cold and hungry, while on a war patrol in Korea. He befriended the youth.

"Some day when all this is over," the soldier said, "I'm going to take you back to America with me."

And he wrote his parents: "If anything happens to me, please arrange for Kim to come to America and live in our home."

Last August the 22-year-old soldier was killed on a patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Beauchamp wrote to their son's buddies asking about Kim.

Kim had vanished as the war moved north, then back. But finally Pfc. Jack Hoyt of Berkeley located Kim.

Then came months of red tape.

But Wednesday the Beauchamps received word that Kim will be flown from Pusan to Tokyo to San Francisco. He's due July 4.

The soldier's father said: "He'll live with us. He'll get the education our son promised."

Vic's mother explained: "It will be a sort of memorial to our son. Vic would have been glad to have him."

Three Schools May Be Altered

Union Township Discussing Plans

The Union Township school board has been "talking about" possible additions and alterations to its three schools, Eber, Wilson and Chaffin.

E. F. Armbrust, president of the Union board, emphasized that the board members had only been discussing the possible additions and alterations.

He said that the board may take the matter up further at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night at the Armbrust Concrete plant in Washington, C. H.

The additions being considered by the Union board do not involve building of new classrooms but the improvement of facilities necessary to modernize the three schools.

All three buildings in Union township were built at the same time, about a generation ago, and all three are built the same, so any additions or improvements being contemplated are to be applied to all three buildings.

The board has been considering several alternative proposals and architect's drawings, but no action has been taken as yet.

TWO OTHER township school boards have also been considering additions to their buildings, but the plans still remain in the talking stage.

The Jefferson board is to meet the first Wednesday in July at which time the plans will probably come up for discussion again.

The Green board held a special meeting on their building plans, but nothing further was decided except that at some time in the future a meeting would be held with the voters in the township to discuss the proposed additions.

The Green board's next regular meeting is also the first Wednesday in July.

Although it is not known yet whether or not the plans being considered by the three county school boards will require a bond issue to finance them, the boards have until about the first of September to file with the Board of Elections here to get such bond issues on the November ballot.

Back-To-Job Move Seen At GE Plant

CINCINNATI, June 24.—(P)—Production of jet engines for fighter planes was resumed on a limited basis Tuesday at the gigantic General Electric Co. plant in nearby Evendale, management reported.

Both AFL Machinists and UAW-CIO employees returned to the plant this morning, but the back-to-work movement was not 100 per cent effective, the spokesman said.

Representatives of the unions, which went on strike last week in protest of failure to obtain new working contracts, were not available immediately for comment on the situation.

The return to work followed two court orders. There were no picket lines today, in keeping with those directives.

Judge Otis R. Hess gave the latest ruling Monday when he issued a temporary restraining order banning the CIO union from picketing or any interference with normal operations at the plant.

Mercury Again Reaches 90 Mark

More of the same, with prospect of break possibly late Wednesday, is the way the Weatherman sizes up the heat wave which has held the community in its grasp for more than a week.

The maximum was 90 again Monday with indications that it would reach and possibly pass that figure Tuesday.

The lowest during the night was 68 degrees, the same reading as the previous night.

At 8 A. M. Tuesday, the reading was 75 and the temperature was mounting rapidly.

A year ago 90 and 70 were the two extremes for the day.
